

SCHOOL OF COMMUNICATIONS

HIGH SCHOOL SCREENWRITING COMPETITION

What do Lena Dunham, Damien Chazelle and Max Landis have in common? Each earned significant screen writing credits while in their 20's.

If you are a high school student who dreams of writing for the screen, here's your chance to take the first step toward making your dreams a reality.

The first-prize winner of the screenwriting competition will:

- Have his or her script produced during the Webster University School of Communications 2017 Filmmaking Camp, Monday, June 12-Friday, June 16
- Receive an iPad mini
- Attend the 2017 Filmmaking Camp for free

Entry deadline: Monday, April 10, 2017

For complete rules and guidelines, visit webster.edu/mediacamps

Please send questions to socnews@webster.edu

WEBSTER.EDU

Webster
UNIVERSITY